

The figure displays a 20x20 grid representing a 2D density function. The color scale ranges from light yellow (low density) to dark red (high density). The highest density is located in the upper-left quadrant, specifically around the coordinates (5, 15) to (10, 10). The density decreases as one moves towards the lower-right quadrant, where the grid is predominantly light yellow.